

Morgan Marks
Landowner Relations Associate

Thanks to Montana Conservation Corps, an AmeriCorps program, Morgan moved from Pennsylvania to Montana to serve on a trail crew in 2008. She has been calling Montana home ever since, with the exception of a few stints living abroad in Australia when she served as a Rotary International Peace Fellow studying conflict and peace, and Zambia when she served with the United States Peace Corps promoting aquaculture practices and educating communities about fish farming. Morgan is an avid angler and adult onset hunter and in 2022, she graduated from the Master Hunter Program with 1MT. She has over 10 years of experience in the nonprofit sector. Conservation, service work and conflict resolution are passions of hers. Creating safe spaces for connections to be fostered and strengthened, for skill building to occur, and for dialogue to be shared between people is her heart work. She serves on the board of directors for the Bob Marshall Wilderness Foundation and Missouri River Open Land Preservation. Morgan and her partner Josh, who is also a Master Hunter, live and work in Great Falls with their bird dog, Nelli.
